

Commutative Property of Multiplication states that if the order of the factors are changed, the product will remain the same such as  $a \times b = c$ , so  $b \times a = c$ .