

Profit is the amount of money that is made after all of the costs and expenses are deducted. Profit is calculated by subtracting expenses (or costs) from income.