

Categorical data is data that represents the characteristics or attributes of a group of people, events, or objects.