

Hint

- Remember to connect models to the equations and algorithms used to solve those equations. In this example, students need to pay close attention to the direction of the operations (the arrows), as well as which steps they would do first.

